To: File for Bay Beach Lane Beach and White Cap Path Request for an Emergency Certification

From: Michael Zylich, Chairman, Sandwich Conservation Commission

Date: January 27, 2014

Subject: Bay Beach Lane Beach Erosion

At the January 15, 2014 meeting of the Sandwich Conservation Commission (SCC), Attorney Brian Blaesser of Robinson & Cole, LLP and Norman Hayes of BSC Group informally presented an update on ongoing beach erosion along Town Neck Beach and their Request for an Emergency Certification.

Following their presentation, Attorney Blaesser, followed up on his request that the SCC issue an emergency certification to allow the homeowners along Town Neck Beach, between 103 Wood Ave and 59 Freeman Ave., to install a stone rip rap seawall.

Attorney Blaesser indicated the emergency was potential loss of a septic system and potential loss of homes along this stretch of beach. However, Attorney Blaesser indicated that the Sandwich Building Commissioner would not issue an emergency declaration and he had not, as of yet, spoken with the Board of Health Agent.

Based on the lack of an emergency declaration from the Sandwich Building Inspector or Board of Health Agent, the Conservation Commission chose not to issue an emergency certification for this project at this time. Since in the opinion of the Conservation Commission it does not appear an actual emergency exists and the only work that could be permitted was that to abate the emergency.

The Conservation Commission advised the representatives that they could come back once an emergency was declared by either Town agency or, as has been, they could file a Notice of Intent (NOI) for the project.

The representatives were reminded that applicants along Bay Beach Lane and White Cap Path were issued Orders of Conditions (DEP File No's SE66-1613, SE66-1618, respectively) allowing the applicants to replenish the sand along the beach. They were also reminded that they must comply with their Order of Conditions before starting any project.
