Town of Sandwich Selectmen:

I am interested in the opening on the Sandwich Substance Abuse Prevention Committee. I am the founding member of Sandwich Waves of Hope From Addiction that started out as a Facebook page, but has evolved in little over three months to a website with the intent to obtain non-profit status soon so we can fundraise for prevention and treatment.

I have two high school daughters that attend Upper Cape Tech. My family is very lucky that our daughters have never done any illegal substances including alcohol. However, I know that my luck could run out, and my husband and I could be any one of the good families of Sandwich that are struggling with substance abuse. I believe education and awareness for the entire community of Sandwich is the most important approach we have to preventing drug use in our town.

Back in the the 80's and 90's the country was fortunate to have the DARE program to combat against the crack epidemic. Up until recently, we had no programs. Thankfully we have a Governor who is eager and involved with the state initiatives. But before Governor Baker got the state involved, Sandwich was already working on the substance abuse issue by institution the task force. I would very much like to be a part of it.

I appreciate your consideration for the open seat on the Sandwich Substance Abuse Prevention Committee.

Hi Bud~

I am interested in being on the recreation Committee for the Town of Sandwich. My twenty five plus years in Shopping Center Management gives me vast experience in customer service, marketing, and many years of experience special events both large and small. I also understand budgeting and facility use. I believe I could be an asset to the committee.

Thanks for considering. Melinda

Frank Pannorfi
Chair, Board of Selectmen
130 Main Street
Sandwich, MA 02563

Dear Mr. Pannorfi:

We are writing to invite you to join mayors and other top municipal leaders from across New England and around the country in a statement expressing concern over the rise of European anti-Semitism. The letter invites European mayors to join us in fighting this pernicious and ancient hatred.

This national initiative was conceived of by Mayor Setti Warren of Newton, Massachusetts and AJC's Boston Regional Office. Together, we sought a mechanism to engage U.S. mayors in this important struggle. We are pleased to share with you that many mayors have already signed on, including those from Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Miami, New York City, Newton, Seattle, and more. This, however, is only the beginning as AJC offices around the country are now engaging other municipal leaders.

In the early Fall, we will publish and publicize the statement and full list of signatories. We will also bring the views of scores of American mayors and the millions of people they represent to European national leaders, legislators, diplomats, and other officials as part of an effort to mobilize increased attention to the critical challenge posed by the growth of anti-Semitic activism and violence.

This is a defining moment for the global Jewish community, but as much for all who cherish free, democratic societies. Anti-Semitism has long been democracy's canary in the coal mine. While the Jewish community is the intended target, we all know that this kind of vitriol and violence knows no boundaries. It is a virus that not only attacks Jews, but the institutions that safeguard all free people. As French Prime Minister Manuel Valls said about his own country, "History has taught us that the awakening of anti-Semitism is the symptom of a crisis for democracy and of a crisis for the Republic. That is why we must respond with force."

In recent years, anti-Semitism has emerged with renewed vigor in many parts of the world, most notably in Europe, and there is an urgent need to recognize and address this dangerous outbreak. While many national governments are slowly awakening to the problem, too often it continues to be unnoticed and under-appreciated. This is why your voice now is so important.

In asking you to sign this statement, we are inviting you to affirm the values that guide our democratic way of life and also invite European counterparts to do the same. Our hope is to establish a unified body of opinion that reaches across continents and oceans and makes clear that there is a strong and resolute community of leaders that will firmly reject all manifestations of anti-Semitism and resolutely defend our democratic way of life.

To join us in this important effort, we invite you to sign the attached statement, scan and email it to Boston@ajc.org. If you have any questions or would like to discuss how you can help us engage additional mayors and municipal leaders, please call Diane Lieberman at (617) 457-8700 or email Boston@ajc.org.

July 6, 2015 – New York – U.S. mayors across the country are joining an AJC initiative calling on their European counterparts to publicly address and take concrete actions against rising anti-Semitism.

"We call upon mayors, municipal leaders and other officials in Europe to join us in affirming that anti-Semitism is not compatible with fundamental democratic values," states the Mayors United Against Anti-Semitism statement. The Mayors' statement emphasizes that "in a world of global communications where anti-Semitic ideas can and do spread quickly, the impact of the rise of anti-Semitism in Europe does not stop at Europe's borders."

The Mayors United Against Anti-Semitism project comes on the heels of AJC's groundbreaking strategy conference, "A Defining Moment for Europe," held in Brussels. At the May gathering, attended by representatives of nearly all European Union countries, AJC released the Call to Action, a detailed plan for European governments to prioritize and fight the escalating problem.

"Anti-Semitism is a cancer that, left unchecked, will metastasize and threaten to destroy the democratic and pluralistic nature of Europe," said AJC Executive Director David Harris at the Brussels gathering.

U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Antony Blinken, addressing the recent AJC Global Forum, said "AJC released a very thought-provoking 'Call to Action' on anti-Semitism that raises important recommendations that all of us can benefit from."

U.S. mayors who have signed on to the initiative include Bill De Blasio of New York, Rahm Emanuel of Chicago, Ed Miller of Seattle, Annisette Parker of Houston, Kasim Reed of Atlanta, Tomás Pedro Regalado of Miami, Marty Walsh of Boston, and Setti Warren of Newton, MA.

New York Mayor de Blasio, addressing the AJC New York Region annual meeting last month, called for an "unmistakable and consistent" response to acts of anti-Semitism in Europe. Anti-Semitism "is the cancer that never went away," said de Blasio. "That cancer was not eradicated at the end of World War II."

The Mayors United Against Anti-Semitism statement affirms a core set of principles, including the condemnation of anti-Jewish hatred in all forms; rejection of the notion that anti-Semitic acts may ever be justified by one's view on the actions or existence of the State of Israel; a declaration that anti-Semitism and any prejudices due to religious differences are inconsistent with core American values; and the belief that the promotion of mutual understanding and respect among all citizens is essential to good governance and democratic life.

The statement pledges a commitment to working within and across U.S. communities to advance the values of respectful coexistence. And it calls on mayors and municipal leaders in Europe to add their names and to affirm that anti-Semitism is incompatible with fundamental democratic values.

Mayor Warren, along with AJC's Boston Regional Office, conceived the initiative.

AJC Regional Offices across the country are gathering mayoral signatures during the summer. For more information, please contact Melanie Pell at pellm@ajc.org.

MAYORS UNITED AGAINST ANTI-SEMITISM
AN AJC INITIATIVE

STATEMENT ON ANTI-SEMITISM BY MAYORS AND MUNICIPAL LEADERS

We, the undersigned Mayors and municipal leaders, recognize that we live in a global era. Our cities and towns, regardless of size, belong to a global community in which our citizens are more interconnected than ever and where events in one community can have ramifications across the world.

We also understand that mayors and municipal leaders have a significant role to play in promoting respectful communities that advance coexistence among peoples of all races, ethnicities and faiths, and that the success of any city or town is based upon people of all backgrounds coming together to move our civic communities forward.

It is with this in mind that we express our deep concern about the alarming spread of anti-Semitism around the world, most violently and visibly in parts of Europe, and from which the United States is not immune.

Anti-Semitism is not only an attack on Jews but an assault on the core values of any democratic and pluralistic society. In a world of global communications where anti-Semitic ideas can and do spread rapidly, the impact of the rise of anti-Semitism in Europe does not stop at Europe's borders. When the fundamental values of democracy are challenged, a concerted and principled response is required.

We are, therefore, heartened that leaders from around the world have spoken out about this dangerous phenomenon and have urged action to confront it. Examples of such statements include:

- President Obama, speaking at a Washington, D.C., synagogue, warned: “[I]n recent years, we’ve seen a deeply disturbing rise in anti-Semitism in parts of the world where it would have seemed unthinkable just a few years or decades ago. This is not some passing fad; these aren’t just isolated phenomena. And we know from our history they cannot be ignored.... [W]hen we allow anti-Semitism to take root, then our souls are destroyed, and it will spread;”
- German Chancellor Angela Merkel declared: “Anyone who hits someone wearing a skullcap is hitting us all. Anyone who damages a Jewish gravestone is disgracing our culture. Anyone who attacks a synagogue is attacking the foundations of our free society;”
- French Prime Minister Manuel Valls outlined just how critical the fight against anti-Semitism is, declaring: “The choice was made by the French Revolution in 1789 to recognize Jews as full citizens. If 100,000 Jews leave, France will no longer be France. The French Republic will be judged a failure;” and
- The Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) reaffirmed, this past November, the crucial need for participating states to continue to combat anti-Semitism.

As Mayors and municipal leaders, we have a special responsibility to speak out against the growing menace of anti-Semitism, and we call upon our European counterparts to join us in adding their names to this statement and in affirming the following:

We, the undersigned,

- Condemn anti-Jewish hatred, in all its forms;
- Reject the notion that anti-Semitic acts, while sometimes carried out in the name of a political cause, may ever be justified or excused by one's opinions about the actions or existence of the State of Israel;
- Declare that prejudices against Jews or others due to differences in religious faith are inconsistent with our core values;
- Support government efforts directed at eradicating anti-Semitism and preventing extremist indoctrination and recruitment; and support expanded education programs, including Holocaust programs, that increase awareness and counter intolerance and discrimination;
- Recognize the ever-present need to be vigilant about efforts to prevent and report acts of anti-Semitism, and other hate crimes; and
- Believe that communities that promote a climate of mutual understanding and respect among all citizens are essential to good governance and democratic life.

We, therefore, commit to working within and across our communities to advance the values of respectful co-existence and call upon mayors, municipal leaders, and other officials in Europe to join us in affirming that anti-Semitism is incompatible with fundamental democratic values.

Respectfully,
